CARTER SAYS CONTINUE WORK OF FIGHTING FOR TARIFF ON SUGAR

Representative of Sugar Protection Committee, in First Letter from Washington, Indicates That Hawaii Is Making a Worth-While Showing in Up-Hill Fight — Believes Public Expression Only Beginning to Express Itself

The Sugar Protection Committee has received its first mail report from George R. Carter, who is in Washington as the committee's agent working to save the sugar tariff situation.

The letter shows that Hawaii is making a tremendous showing in Washington, and Carter says that the work should be kept up. The letter reads as follows:

"Arrived in Washington Sunday night five hours late. Monday morning, Ballou's office, 910 Colorado building at nine o'clock. While discussing matters with him, I came Frank Baldwin Paxton, W. G. Cooke and R. D. Mead. Found that they universally expressed the highest praise for the work the Sugar Protection Committee had done in Hawaii, the effects of which have begun to be felt here in a very marked degree, and in no way more than in the encouragement it has given to our workers and those who are supporting us.

"Copies of letters written by various merchants to whom appeal has been made are being sent in here and in some cases enclosing copies of replies they have received from congressmen and senators. In some instances it was important to know if the Republican senators were going to fight or simply let the Democrats do their worst, and, an unexpected letter contained the statement of a prominent senator that the republican senators had determined to fight the Democratic tariff measure to the best of their ability. This probably means considerable debate in the senate.

"Hawaii's representatives here have opened three offices in addition to Ballou's, in which they are maintaining a publicity bureau and one of which will be occupied by Messrs.

Mead and Carter. Four numbers of the first volume of the Domestic Sugar Bulletin have been issued besides an immense amount of other publicity work. You in Hawaii cannot do this class of work so effectively as it can be done from this end. The consensus of opinion among the men here is that the work of the Sugar Protection Committee in Honolulu should be continued. Mead asked if it was simply a flash in the pan and Ballou thought that follow-up letters from Hawaii would have as much effect if not more than if sent from here. We discussed fully the situation and all the field workers here are imbued with the idea that it is impossible for us to expect no change. They seem to think that the great American public is going to look upon the change in tariff as an academic question in which it is not interested, but to me it seems that public opinion is only beginning to express itself.

"All of the material mailed from the committee seems to be here, and it will afford some valuable names to be added to the mailing list that is now being used. For instance, we can send a copy of the Domestic Sugar Bulletin to a selected list of those to whom letters have already been sent from Hawaii.

"Sent second cable last night to Babbitt. During the afternoon Harry Irwin came in and told of the work he is doing and expressed the opinion that he found the most effective point which appealed to members of congress to be the necessity of keeping the islands Americanized, and the serious effect which the change in the tariff would have on diminishing the employment of skilled and white labor.

"Made no attempt to see anyone today. Ordered business cards and tried to straighten out my papers."

"G. R. CARTER."

Redfield Will Make A Probe Of New Tariff

William Cox Redfield, Secretary of Commerce.

EXPERT TO INVESTIGATE ALL ANGLES OF THE ODIOS MEASURE

Latest advices from Washington are to the effect that William Cox Redfield, the new secretary of commerce, will be allowed $1,000,000 to make a thorough investigation of the Underwood-Wilson tariff measure, which it is said will compel a large number of manufacturers to close their factories should it finally be enacted.

According to friends of the secretary, he knows more about the tariff than does Oscar Underwood. Besides filling the office to which he has been appointed by President Wilson, Redfield is at the head of the Manufacturers' Export Association, which position enables him to keep his finger on the pulse of all tariff questions.

'HEALER' DOING BIG BUSINESS WITH JAPANESE

And Perhaps City and County Authorities Will Take a Hand in It

Uzaku Hamaguchi, the Japanese "healer" operating through occult powers upon hundreds of men, women and children in this city, has attracted the attention of the city and county authorities as well as his own countrymen.

Though the board of health is declared to be powerless to act even should the man be found to be practicing an art strange to orthodox and recognized medical procedure, the city and county authorities want to see what Hamaguchi is doing. If he is a hypnotist, the local authorities want to find out about it.

Many hundred Japanese attended Hamaguchi's "clinic" at the Mochitsuki club this morning. The fast-spreading fame of the man as a second Mesmerist, and the report of his activities published in the Star-Bulletin yesterday, were responsible for a huge crowd at the club grounds on Kalia road. Japanese came from all directions and in all kinds of conveyances. Two big autobuses did a flourishing business and most of the hacks, in the city were drafted into use.

Twenty Dollars Per Minute. Hamaguchi did a flourishing business. He treated patients this morning at the rate of from five to ten per minute, at two dollars per "throw." As he charged twenty-five cents admission to the big room where he worked, he must have taken in five or six hundred dollars during his four-hour session. As early as five o'clock Japanese were waiting admittance to the clubhouse. At seven o'clock, when a reporter for the Star-Bulletin went into the Mochitsuki club, there were

SENATOR A. J. WIRTZ IS NAMED MEMBER OF SERVICE COMMISSION

Senator A. J. Wirtz, author of the civil service bill which received the signature of the governor early in the session of the legislature, and chairman of the holdover committee appointed to draft a workmen's compensation act to be presented to the next legislature, will be a member of the civil service commission of Honolulu. This announcement was made in the office of the mayor this morning. The other two members have not yet been appointed, but their names will be decided on by the first of the week. The commission will have jurisdiction over the police and fire departments.

LEGISLATURE IS PRAISED; FREAR REVIEWS DEEDS

Governor, in Survey of Last Session, Points to Much Progressive Legislation

[In the article below, Governor Frear has made for the Star-Bulletin a survey of the work of the 1913 legislative session. He answers emphatically criticisms to the effect that little of important or progressive legislation was enacted at the session just closed.]

BY GOVERNOR W. F. FREAR.

No one who kept in close touch with the work of the legislature or who has read the laws enacted by it can well avoid the conclusion that a great amount of progressive legislation was enacted during the recent session.

Persons interested in particular bills that failed of passage may feel disappointed. Having their attention centered on those bills, they might naturally overlook the remaining mass of good bills that were enacted and feel that the legislature fell short in the performance of its duties. It must be remembered that the legislature is made up of many members and that they represent different opinions, of which also there are many in the community. No one group, however right or advanced it may be in its ideas, can expect to have its entire program carried out at once.

The legislature enacted 170 laws, which is one more than were enacted at the previous session, which had to its credit the largest number up to that time. The number of laws, however, is of little matter. Indeed, the fewer the laws the better, unless they are of the right kind. One of the things most to the credit of the legislature is the large number of

SPALDING FIRM WILL CONSTRUCT NAVAL HOSPITAL

Local Concern Places Lowest Bid for Most Up-to-Date Institution in Service

Bids for construction of the naval hospital at Pearl Harbor, which, when fully completed, will be the most up-to-date hospital plant in the United States service, were opened in Washington this morning, and private dispatches received here indicate that the Spalding Construction Company of Portland, Oregon, is the low bidder.

Walter Spalding, local representative of the firm, stated this afternoon that he had just received a cablegram saying: "Spalding low hospital." The bids were on 19 separate items, and the figures of the Spalding Company aggregate about $320,000.

The hospital plant at Pearl Harbor consists of 31 separate buildings and the amount of the appropriation for the entire project is $629,000. Of this only $280,000 is now available, but by splitting the proposals into separate items, it is possible by cutting out some of them to bring the Spalding bid well within the appropriation. In all probability only one of the two wards called for will be built at the present time.

The naval hospital, as planned, consists of a three-story administration building, with a two-story ward building on each side of it, connected by covered passages. In the rear is the subsistence building, and surrounding the main chain are the outbuildings and quarters. Provision is made in the plans for future wards, and wards for detention, and for contagious diseases. The administration building, with its two wing wards, has a frontage of 550 feet.

The main hospital building consists of an administration building, two ward buildings, subsistence building, laboratory, operating building, laundry, stable, mortuary, two officers' quarters, bachelor officers' quarters, hospital corps' quarters, nurses' quarters, pharmacist's quarters, four civilian employees' quarters, connecting passages, servants' quarters, and wash-houses.

The main buildings are of reinforced concrete construction, with terra cotta partitions and curtain walls. The remaining buildings, except the mortuary, will be of wood, with asbestos shingled roofs.

The entire work covered by the contract is to be completed in 18 months.

MORE "DARK HORSE" NOW IN RACE FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

SENATOR METZGER WOULD BE THE GOVERNOR

Senator Delbert E. Metzger, of Hilo and the Democratic party, is one "dark horse" who has already started in the gubernatorial race. He started from Hilo on the Mauna Kea yesterday and he arrived this morning on the first lap of the trip to Washington, but the gubernatorial candidates are all taking now.

Senator Metzger is following hard on the heels of L. L. McCandless, Gilbert J. Waller and Edward M. Watson, and there is a rumor that Judge A. A. Wilder is not unlikely to be the next departure in the general direction of the White House. Judge Wilder is known to have been picked by many, including some substantial businessmen, for a candidate in case Watson is found physically unfit. Furthermore, Metzger's own candidacy depends on Watson's withdrawal, so it is figured that Judge Wilder's name is likely to be found on an outgoing passenger list before long.

Senator Metzger did not say definitely this morning what message had summoned him to Washington, although he did say that his message was direct from the president or Secretary Lane. It is believed that some of his friends there have informed him that he is now strongly considered for the governorship and that he ought to be getting on the ground.

Metzger, according to report, is going to have a talk with George R. Carter when he arrives in Washington.

INSPECTOR SHORT UNCOVERS CACHE OF OPIUM

By following the information given him by a friend that a quantity of opium had been smuggled into the city and hidden in Kalihi, Sanborn R. Short, a night inspector in the customs service, is responsible for the rounding up of two bladders and eight tins of the contraband drug which he found in an old stone quarry in the rear of the insane asylum. The discovery of the drug was made at three o'clock yesterday afternoon following a search of several hours, and its confiscation may lead to the arrest of a gang of smugglers believed to have been carrying on operations in this city for some time past.

Upon receiving information as to the possible hiding place of the drug, Short, without informing anyone of what he had learned, went to Kalihi and began a search in the quarry near the insane asylum. After searching for several hours he discovered an old teapot sitting near a pile of small stones well up under a small ledge. With the use of a stick, he dug into the ground to a depth of about half a foot when he came upon a gunny sack. Removing the sack and opening it, he found it to contain the cache of opium. He reported his find and turned the drug over to the customs officials, and Chief of Detectives McDuffie was set on the trail. Two Portuguese were arrested upon suspicion yesterday afternoon.

Judge A. A. Wilder, who is mentioned as a possibility for the territorial governorship, and Senator Delbert E. Metzger, who will shortly leave for Washington to enter the gubernatorial fight.

Whether this means that he has any support from the former governor cannot be figured out by the supporters of the other Democratic candidates. One report at the capitol building this morning was that Metzger has been asked to bring a letter from A. W. Carter, another angle that is puzzling the politicians, for A. W. Carter is popularly supposed to be backing Waller strongly.

Metzger said today that he expects to go to Philadelphia and then on to Washington. It is presumed to be business with the Breakwater Company of Philadelphia that is taking him to the Pennsylvania city.

UNABLE TO CAST VOTE, THEY ARE CASTING BOMBS

(Associated Press Cable)

LONDON, England, May 10.—The suffragettes are showing more and more recklessness and defiance of law and the police, reinforced by hundreds of detectives, are utterly unable to check them in their bomb-planting and arson activities. Bombs were today discovered in the big Liverpool station, Reading postoffice and Farringham Hall. The magnificent mansion of the former lord provost at Dundee has been burned to the ground and even before the ruins were cold suffragette placards were found scattered around.

(Associated Press Cable)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The California Wine Association today absorbed the numerous plants of the Swiss Colony, thus giving the former corporation control of the entire state wine output. Negotiations for this transfer have been underway for a number of months past and for a time it was believed that it would be impossible for the organizations to reach an amicable agreement.

MANY FRIENDS BID BRYCES BON VOYAGE

A few minutes before the Pacific Mail S. S. Mongolia sailed for the Far East at nine-thirty o'clock this morning, a reception was tendered on the forward deck of the vessel to the Hon. James Bryce, until recently ambassador from England to the American people, and to Mrs. Bryce by the many friends they have made during their short visit to Honolulu.

Mr. Bryce reiterated the statement made by him yesterday to the effect that Honolulu is, in his estimation, the most beautiful place in the world. "Our stay has been all too short," he said. "We only regret that it is not possible at this time to spend a month or two in your beautiful city. Mrs. Bryce and I have been delightfully entertained. We are planning upon spending several weeks in Shanghai. A month or two of our vacation will be spent in Japan and we do not expect to return to England before next fall."

"Is it your intention to study the Japanese attitude in regard to recent anti-alien legislation in the state of California, Mr. Bryce?" asked the representative of the Star-Bulletin as a parting shot.

"I had a delightful dip in the surf early this morning," the famous diplomat responded. "What a glorious country this is!"

After a luncheon at the University Club yesterday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce, as the guests of Governor and Mrs. Frear, motored about the island. After dining at the Moana hotel, the distinguished visitors spent the night at the governor's residence. Today is the birthday of the noted diplomat and historian, and he commented on the fact this morning in the course of a breakfast given in his honor at the home of Governor and Mrs. Frear. Governor Frear was away this morning, and with Mrs. Frear as hostess the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bryce and President A. F. Griffiths of Oahu College. Before breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Bryce motored out to Waikiki and the great steamer Moana had a plunge in the sea at the Moana hotel baths and thoroughly enjoyed the famous Waikiki bathing.

Among those who went down to wish Mr. and Mrs. Bryce good-buck this morning were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. R. Rentiers of the British consulate, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swany, Charles R. Hemenway and D. L. Withington.

On the grounds of desertion and non-support Mrs. Josephine K. Guiffre has applied for a divorce from Charles A. Guiffre of Ewa, Oahu.

JUDGE COOPER TO SAIL LUKA ON A MISSION

Promising to dissipate shortly the mystery surrounding the destiny of the American schooner Luka, Judge Henry E. Cooper today admitted he has purchased that vessel from Captain Emil E. Piltz, and that within a few days she likely will sail away on a mission the nature of which not even the owner is fully cognizant of at present.

"Yes, I have bought the Luka from Captain Piltz," said Judge Cooper this morning. "She is being fumigated today. She is to be provisioned for a lengthy cruise ready to sail at a moment's notice."

"I can't say where she is to go or what her mission will be, not knowing. That probably will be determined in the next few days, however, and when it is I shall be perfectly willing to tell you."

SOLDIERS LEAVE FOR THE VOLCANO

This afternoon C company, Second Infantry commanded by Captain W. H. Johnson, embarked on the Mauna Kea for Hilo, from which point the command will hike to the volcano, see all that there is to be seen, and return to Honolulu by the same ship, arriving here May 20.

About 65 men are making the trip, the government being put to no expense whatsoever, as the soldiers are paying their own expenses. The proposition of a sightseeing trip to Kilauea met with instant favor, when broached two months ago, and practically every man is taking advantage of the opportunity. The hike to the crater will be made in three days from Hilo, two days being spent at the rim, and two on the return march.

Lieutenants Sharp and Edgerley, of C company, are making the trip with the command.

DEVELOPMENTS IN BIG BREACH-OF-PROMISE SUIT EXPECTED NOW

With the arrival yesterday of Mrs. Sadie Stewart, quick developments are expected in her threatened $25,000 breach of promise suit against Charles Bruce Potter. High Sheriff Henry this afternoon was busy looking for Potter and while he declined to say what was going to happen when they met, he was carrying official-looking papers, and from other sources it was learned that the papers were in connection with the case Mrs. Stewart was reported to have begun in San Francisco some time ago against Potter. Potter himself professed to be undisturbed by the charges Mrs. Stewart freely made.
